JAPS CAPTURE COSSACK FORCE

In the Mountains at the Head of the Yalu River. The Patrol was Part of Kuroka's Army

RUSSIANS CAPTURE EIGHTEEN HUNDRED JAPS

In a Battle on the Yalu River. This Report is From Russian Sources And is Not Yet Confirmed. Japs Will Make a Supreme Attempt to Block the Port Arthur Channel. Evidently the Russian Fleet is Still There. Russia Meeting With Great Difficulties.

Russians Claim Victory.

Chefoo, March 20.—A private dispatch received here from Mukden states that a battle has taken place on the Yalu, in which the Russians claim to have captured 1,800 prisoners.

Will Hold the Town.

Yankow, March 20.—A Russian officer reports that although General Liawitch, commanding in Southern Manchuria, personally thinks this town cannot be held, yet the local staff has obtained his permission to defend it. Two extra batteries of field guns have arrived. All were placed in position beyond the fort near the coast. Three thousand coolies have been engaged to dig trenches south of the town.

Japs Torpedo Boats on the Look Out

Chefoo, March 20.—The launch Nigger arrived here today from Port Arthur. Her captain reports that with special permission he left Port Arthur on the morning of March 16th. Owing to heavy weather he took shelter near a small island between Chefoo and Port Arthur. There he got into the hands of two Japanese torpedo boats. The Japanese searched the launch and all his papers and letters were closely scrutinized. Finding nothing confiscable they allowed him to leave.

Great Activity.

I interviewed one of the launch's passengers and learned that during his journey from Harbin to Port Arthur, he noticed great activity at the stations of Mukden, Lanyan and Hui Chen. The Russians were sending reinforcements under a picked officer to the Yalu. No further movements are planned before General Kuropatkin arrived.

Gathering Provisions.

The Russians are entirely confident of Russia's victories on land. The Manchurian villages are very friendly and bring daily a big supply of fresh provisions to the moving regiments, receiving cash in payment. Chinese currency is all that is available. Mules have been bought by the commissions and transports of enormous numbers of cattle are visible, driven from the interior.

Japs Capture Cossack Force.

Tokio, March 21.—There is a rumor here that a column of General Kuroka's force has captured an entire Cossack patrol in the mountains at the head of the Yalu River. The report comes from Port Artreff and the officials believe there is good foundation for it, as Kuroka's men took three different roads through the Kora mountains and are known to be on the Yalu River in Northern Manchuria.

Will Do or Die

New York, March 21.—The American correspondent cables that the Japanese are about to make a sensational attempt to bottle up Port Arthur once for all. Fifteen big steamships are being prepared at Sasebo. They are to steam toward Port Arthur in line and it is immaterial whether they are sunk by Russian guns or are blown up by their crews.

Great Difficulties Face the Russians.

Tokio, March 21.—A war correspondent in Manchuria has sent important news to the military authorities which showed that the Russians are meeting enormous difficulties in mobilizing their army. There are many places in which the Manchurian railway is blocked by immense snowdrifts.

In other places the rails have sunk. The Russians have already suffered enormous losses in men, chiefly for lack of clothing and bread in the commissariat department.

The News Confirmed.

London, March 21.—News has reached here to confirm the report that a battle has taken place on the Yalu River, in which it was said the Russians had captured 1,800 prisoners.

A dispatch from St. Petersburg to a news agency dated yesterday, says there has been nothing new in the war situation and that it is quiet on both land and sea.

CANADIAN EXPEDITION

TO THE ARCTIC OCEAN.

Will go by Way of Behring Straits to Establish Canada's Claim to the Northern Islands.

(Bulletin Special Dispatch).

Montreal, March 21.—Hon. Raymond Prefontaine announced yesterday that the Canadian expedition that would go to Hudson's Bay in the steamer Goussard, would also go to the mouth of the Mackenzie river and to the Arctic ocean, with the object of claiming portions of Canada on Canadian territory. The expedition would go by way of the Behring Straits.

SERIES OF MISHAPS

AMERICAN STEAMSHIPS.

Met With Several Accidents, Steam Ship Collides With a British Troopship.

(Bulletin Special Dispatch).

New York, March 21.—The South American line steamship, under Captain Young, which left New York on March 12th for Plymouth, met with two mishaps, grounding off Cape La Hague, France, in the early morning, and coming into collision in the English channel with the Peninsula and Oriental steamship Assaye, under contract to the British government. It is a troopship.

The Assaye was from Bombay, with five hundred troops on board. The New York grounded while approaching Cherbourg at 2.30 a.m. in a fog.

THE CRY FOR MORE LAND.

The great floods of immigration that have swept over the western American States have been without a parallel in the world's history. Everything points to a similar flow of settlers to Western Canada during the coming year. Writing on this subject, the Orange Judd Farmer, a leading American agricultural weekly, says:

"The astonishing demand for land in the northwest will be more keen this season than ever. The average citizen in the west and northwest thinks the movement of population into his district is a 'boom' that he should make the most of. He has faith in his country but fails to grasp the whole situation. The choice agricultural lands of the central Mississippi valley have reached extraordinarily high prices. Some Illinois farmers have sold at $200 per acre land that they themselves 'took up' as a free gift under the homestead act—farming land only, in central Illinois, which has reached this figure because farming pays good interest on that valuation, not because of proximity to cities. In Iowa, indeed all through the central valleys, land values have also risen enormously."

"Farming in the central west is so profitable, so safe, and still further advances in land values are so constantly expected that men of large means are buying these central lands and operating them on a large scale. Farming is becoming as fashionable as it is profitable, but in the central west agriculture requires more and more capital."

"Many thousands of farmers in moderate circumstances, hired men or others who would like to go to farming, but who cannot afford to pay from $50 to $200 per acre for land, are cast about for good lands that can be bought at moderate prices. The great majority of these people want such lands located in the western and northwestern states or the Canadian northwest, because they prefer the inspiring climate and the social conditions of that favored region."

"But little privation is now required from settlers who move onto these better lands in northern Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota or the northwest of the states or Canada. Almost every part of these regions is within convenient reach of railroad transportation. If in any section the mails, schools, churches, etc., are at all deficient, they are rapidly brought to perfection as population increases. It is no longer necessary to develop business on the cheaper lands of the west and northwest, compared to the privations suffered by the early settlers of the central west."

"The man who can sell out in the central west at from $50 to $200 per acre, and buy lands in the newer sections at from $3 to $25 per acre, is very much disposed to do so. He has had one taste of the enormous profit deriving from the natural increase in the value of land. He is hungry for another dose of such profits. He is still hungrier for more acres for himself and his children. If he can sell out at a price that will enable him to pay for 100 acres or more for each member of his family and also have a snug capital left, he is very much disposed to do so."

"Each of these foregoing reasons is enough to warrant the present activity in the real estate market throughout the west. People are ready to swarm into the newer and cheaper lands. This movement of population promises to be even larger this season than ever before. The fever to migrate and to open up new lands has scarred about once in every decade, but it has been most powerful at periods of about 20 to 25 years apart. It is to be greater during 1904, relatively speaking, than was the great swelling of population into the central Mississippi valley years ago."

"These conclusions are based on an intimate personal knowledge of every section of our western states, and the Canadian northwest, which we have closely studied for several years. Our conclusions are also based on a ten thousand mile journey through this country, from which we have just returned, as well as upon a knowledge of the conditions of the people in the middle and eastern states."

WESTERN QUESTIONS.

Rev. D. G. McQueen, pastor of the Edmonton Presbyterian church, who is now in the east, has been preaching in several of the large Toronto churches. The Globe, in a report of one of his sermons, says:

"The aim of the Mormons is evidently to secure political power and eventually dominate the Canadian west," was the somewhat startling statement of Rev. D. G. McQueen, of Edmonton, who preached in Westminster church yesterday morning. There were some six thousand of them in Manitoba alone, and they were still coming, he said. They were already attempting to gain control of the public school system. Mormon teachers were not allowed in the public schools, but the sect had overcome the restriction that only graduates of Canadian universities might be appointed public school inspectors by putting through Manitoba University, where he graduated last year, a relative of Brigham Young. Their evident object was to get him in as an inspector and this would be the entering wedge. The Presbyterian church had three mission stations among the Mormons, but their work had been rather to prevent the influencing of Canadians by the alien sect."

"The Galicians and Doukhobors of western Canada," said Mr. McQueen, "are bitterly opposed to Russia, and in case of Britain being involved in war, their sympathies would be strongly British. They want to be Canadian citizens."

"The great stream of immigration, which would this year probably reach 200,000, had gone into the Northwest with no perspective lessening of room. Only the fringe had so far been touched, and the west had possibilities still undreamt of. The mixed character of the immigration made the Canadianizing of the new settlers a problem. To educate and develop this people into Canadian citizens, as well as to care for their religious welfare, was the work that had fallen to the church. The Presbyterian church had already 188 mission stations among English and foreign settlers. This was a work of vital importance also to

HOCKEY.

THE COLLEGE WINS.

The Alberta college and high school hockey teams again met in friendly contest on Thistle rink Saturday night. The college had previously been defeated, and they took the determination to ruben themselves. The high school was defeated by a score of 5 to 0. The score does not show the relative merits of the two teams as the school at times played splendidly, and were it not for the college defence, which was almost impenetrable, the score would have been very different. The "Never Stops" and the "Sure Shots" are certainly misnomers, for the college stopped everything that came their way, and the school were anything but sure shots. Miss Umhach in goal for the college played good work. The college forwards played a fast game and at times developed quite a combination. Miss York played the star game for the high school, and repeatedly took the puck right through the college team only to lose it when everyone watched to see the umpire raise his hand. Miss Brewster in centre played a good game, as did also the Misses Greenwood and Potter. The referee's duty appeared to be, not so much to keep the play on the ice as to assist the ladies to their skates when they fell.

About two minutes after the game started the college scored. They repeated the trick in about five minutes, and shortly before half time added another, all three being scored by Miss Lockhart, who played the star game of the college forwards. A few minutes after half time the college again scored from a scuffle in front of the school goal. Play went merrily on, neither side scoring for about fifteen minutes, when the college added their fifth and last goal. The match was very interesting and was watched by a large crowd of people. A nice sum was netted for the hospital. The following is the lineup of the teams:

Goal.	High School.
Miss Umhach Mrs. Minns
.....	Point.
Miss Lauder Miss Greenwood
.....	Cover Point.
Miss Cope Miss Walker
.....	Rover.
Miss C. Lauder Miss Potter
.....	Centre.
Miss Lockhart Miss Brewster
.....	Left Wing.
Miss Tait Miss Moller
.....	Right Wing.
Miss Brandon Miss York
.....	Frank Wright, (Wentworth) acted as referee in a manner satisfactory to both teams, which, under the circumstances, is saying a good deal.
